

Backend tech stack -

Express + Axios for the api call handling also used logging middleware as an internal module called

A simple url shortener that uses random module to generate 6 char shortcodes and currently stores the data in memory due to time constraints, ideally needing a Db

Also for the expiry im using calls to the shortcode to delete them, this should be done with cron job ideally